Ed Eyestone wins men's national championship

By Glenn R. Hansen

On the 26.2 mile road to the Men's Open Division National Championship, Ed Eyestone of Layton, Utah ran a near perfect marathon. It wasn't a fast race, but it was a smart race — a textbook marathon.

In ideal marathon conditions — 48 degrees and sunny with little wind at the start — the top four seeded male runners led the rest of the pack. Eyestone; Paul Pilkington of Roy, Utah; Mark Curp of Bountiful, Utah; and John Tuttle of Douglasville, Georgia ran the first 5K in 15:35. From there Curp began to fall off the lead pack of three runners.

This threesome ran so many consecutive 5-minute miles, you could have set your watch by them. And as consistent as the times were, so were the strides of Eyestone, Pilkington and Tuttle. The three ran so close from miles 3 through 22, that it was difficult to tell who was actually in the lead; though it was clear through most of these miles that it was not Tuttle. He appeared to sit behind the other two, forcing the pair from Utah to do all the work.

As the leaders reached the half-way mark the sun was still shining brightly on Lake Nokomis, but the wind had become a factor in the race. Curp was now visible in a distant fourth place. He was nearly a minute behind, but the lead group knew he was there as they occasionally glanced over their shoulders. But this didn't prod them to pick up the pace; instead they began to slow down slightly. The mile splits became 5:10 and 5:15 as the racers approached the 20 mile mark where many say the real race begins.

And at mile 20, as the pace slowed even more, it was clear that these runners had chosen a smart race over a fast race. But it wasn't yet clear which runner was the smartest. They were running 5:20 and 5:30 minute miles — until mile 23.

As Curp and eventual third-place finisher Joe Leuchtmann, Ballwin, Mo., drew even closer to the leaders at mile 23, the three-man race for the championship became a two-man race as Pilkington fell off the lead. And at 23.5, Eyestone proved himself to be the smartest runner. With a reserve of speed, he showed the strength needed to split the twosome into a solo move for the victory.

For the final three miles, Eyestone was able to use an energy reserve that any marathoner would love to call on to actually increase speed in the last three miles of this 26.2 mile personal challenge. He pulled away from second-place finisher Tuttle so convincingly that it appeared he had just begun running this 5K race for the finish. His lead over Tuttle grew quickly from 10 seconds to 20 seconds to a difference of 36 seconds at the finish. His winning time was 2:14:34.

At the elite runners' press conference on the Friday before the race, Eyestone said, "I've run enough marathons to know not to predict finish times." These are words to live by for marathoners.

More important were Eyestone's comments immediately after the race. "I would have liked to run faster," he said, "but I'm not complaining; I won."

Lisa Weidenbach

By Nolan Zavoral

Star Tribune

With all the emotional and physical miseries Lisa Weidenbach has endured, she felt she had something to prove in the Twin Cities Marathon. Well, she proved it.

Rallying from 30 seconds behind the leaders, Weidenbach, from Gig Harbor, Wash., took the lead for good in the last half-mile and won in 2 hours, 33 minutes, 38 seconds. Tatiana Zueva of Russia was runner-up for the second straight year, in 2:33:46, while Gordon Bakoulis, from New York, finished third in 2:34:03.

"I was doubting myself in the April's Boston Marathon.

But going into the TCM's 26.2 mile race, Weidenbach was confident and healthy. She had run a strong 5K eight days before — 16:10 for 3.1 miles — giving her an emotional springboard into the TCM.

However, marathons are unpredictable creatures, which is why Weidenbach found herself trailing until late in the race. Through the first 7 miles, Texan Joy Smith and Zueva duelled for the lead, and then Bakoulis made it a threesome.

Bakoulis had not run a marathon in 11 months — and since a banned drug was found in testing after her sixth-place New York Marathon finish in November 1992, Bakoulis had taken Probenecid for Lyme disease, but neglected to ask if the drug was banned. Her four-year suspension by USA Track & Field was lifted in June, and Bakoulis immediately made her plans to run the TCM, where she placed third in 1990.

As Weidenbach had predicted, and perhaps feared, Bakoulis was running with both talent and passion. However, Weidenbach kept gaining, and by mile 21, she had passed Bakoulis. Ahead were Zueva and Smith, who was suffering from dehydration problems that would lead her in the medical tent after the race for an IV.

Weidenbach picked off Smith — eighth among women in the Boston Marathon in April, fourth in the TCM — during the 22nd mile.

Four miles from the end, a tailwind on Summit Av. in St. Paul, Weidenbach and Zueva,

About this time, Weidenbach's husband-coach, Bill, yelled encouragement from the crowd.

"Morning run! Morning run!" he screamed, which meant, Bill said, that if his wife could make it through the last 4 miles of her tough morning training runs, she surely could last through the TCM's final 4.

Weidenbach passed the Russian at 23 1/2 miles, but then Zueva overtook Weidenbach, who countered for the last time with a half-mile to go.

"It was now or never," Weidenbach said. Said Zueva: "I was so surprised to see Lisa beside me. She seemed uncomfortable at the start, and I decided she was probably going to be far behind."

"She pushed after the 25th mile, and I was tired. I tried to catch her, but she was tough."

The top four women finished within a minute of one another. "What a race! What great women's running when four finishers are that close," Bakoulis said. "It attests to the progress women's running has made in this country."

Navarro and Portenski win masters race; Cummings and Ray take home U.S. masters championships

By Patricia Goodwin

Artemio Navarro of Mexico City, and Bernardine Portenski of Wellington, New Zealand out-paced an impressive masters field to win the 1993 Twin Cities Marathon's men's and women's masters championships. Because neither runner is a U.S. citizen, however, the winners of the USA Track and Field Masters Championships were Paul Cummings from Lehi, Utah; and Suzanne Ray, of Anchorage, Alaska.

Navarro, 44, finished ninth overall in a time of 2:17:50, with Cummings, who just turned 40, the second masters runner in 2:20:14. Portenski, 44, ran the course in 2:41:25 to finish nearly five minutes ahead of women's masters runner-up Ray, who had a 2:46:22. Portenski also won the masters in the 1993 Boston Marathon.

Both Navarro and Cummings beat top masters seed Doug Kurtis, 41, who was trying to run his 72nd marathon under 2:20. However, Kurtis, of Northville, Mich., missed that mark and ran a 2:23:03 to place third in the masters race.

The top five male masters places were rounded out by Leonard Hill, 41, of Klamath Falls, Ore., who ran a 2:23:24 to place fourth; and Luis Lopez, 44, of San Jose, Costa Rica, in 2:23:46, to place fifth.

In the female masters race, third place went to Carol Virga, 42, of Delray Beach, Fla., with a 2:49:59; fourth to Janet Skaalen, 40, of Minnetonka, Minn., in 2:53:56; and fifth place went to Judith Hine, 44, of Marietta, Ga., in 2:58:33.

The TCM is in its third year of the masters championship designation, which was awarded by USA Track & Field for an unprecedented, five-year span from 1991-1995. "Certainly this designation helps draw a high caliber masters runner," says David Coyne, vice president, Running Recruiting. "The TCM also offers a substantial masters purse and has a long-standing reputation for attracting and supporting the masters runner."

The competition was evident in other age categories at this year's TCM, with Ryszard Marczak of Poland placing first in the 45-49 category with a 2:25:17; Michael Heffernan, of Portland, Ore., first in the 50-54 group with a 2:37:15; and Fay Bradley, of Washington, D.C. placing first in the 55-59 category in 2:41:35.

On the female masters side, Diane Stoneking of Edina, Minn., took first in the 45-49 category in 2:58:46; Karen Bestual of Lincoln, Neb., was first in the 50-54 group with a 3:16:45; and Wen-Shi Yu of Kew Gardens, NY, took first in the 55-59 with a 3:23:26.

Jon Sinclair and local favorites Sean Mulheron and Pete Wareham as they jogged back and forth in the brisk wind. They, along with over 1000 other runners, were awaiting word that a train blocking the course had passed through, and the race could proceed.

Any heat that the bright blue sky failed to provide was made up for in the men's race, with the top three runners finishing within two seconds. Dan Frusher, of Mankato, Minn., prevailed, with a time of 14:35. Frusher broke the course record for the St. Paul/Harriet Island version of the TCM 5K course, previously held by Steve Scott, who posted a 14:36 in 1991. Rod DeHaven of Madison, Wis., was close on his heels, with a time of 14:36, and Sinclair, Fort Collins, Colo., finished just behind DeHaven with an official time of 14:37. Mulheron and Wareham rounded out the

In the masters division, Doug Bell, 42, of Greeley, Colo., ran 15:36 to take first place for the third year in a row. Marcy Gilles, 44, of Eden Prairie, Minn., runner up in the 1992 masters competition, won the female masters title, in a time of 19:03.

SPONSORS MAKE THE TWIN CITIES MARATHON HAPPEN

New and returning sponsors helped the 12th annual Twin Cities Marathon continue its tradition as a community-wide event focusing on fitness and wellness.

HealthPartners was again the presenting sponsor for the 1993 event, and WCCO Radio returned as a major sponsor for an unprecedented 12th consecutive year.

New contributing sponsors included Norwest Corporation, which is the official bank for the TCM; and Diadora America, which is the Marathon's official running shoe.

Returning contributing sponsors included Minnegasco, which provided Natural Gas Vehicles for the course; The Creamette Company, which hosted the Spaghetti Dinner complete with Creamette pasta and Classico sauce; HealthSpan, which provided the Fitness Fair at the expo; and IBM with an aid station.

Minnesota Monthly again published the Marathon's official magazine, and Minnesota Sports developed the spectator's guide. New sponsor Caribou Coffee provided a variety of coffees to both runners and spectators at the start and finish; and Q. Cumbers restaurant again hosted a muffin party at the finish line and at the Saturday Running Events.

Water all along the course was served up by Kandiyohi Water, with Exceed providing runners with the fluid replacement drink. Additional beverages were on hand compliments of LaCroix and Pepsi at various weekend events.

New aid station sponsors this year included Ciatti's restaurants and U S WEST Cellular, which also provided cellular phones to Marathon officials.

In addition, the Marathon appreciates its many food product sponsors including Aamodt's

Apple Orchard with its apples, Dole Fresh Fruit and its bananas, Great Harvest Bread Co. for the bread, and Old Home Foods for its yogurt.

Equipment donated included generators from Ziegler Power Systems, radios from Motorola, copiers from Konica Business Machines, and the sweats van from Barrett Moving & Storage.

Congratulations,

Marathon Runners

We're pleased to have been part of this perfect day, with a water stop at the 11-mile mark and clean burning natural gas vehicles.

Minnegasco is proud to have run with you. Vehicles that operate on natural gas can help keep the air cleaner for breathing and for running. Emissions from natural gas vehicles are significantly lower than of vehicles that operate on gasoline and diesel fuel.

All of us--runners, support staff and spectators, breathed easier, following the lead of Minnegasco's clean-burning natural-gas vehicles.

TWIN CITIES MARATHON WEEKEND

October 1-3, 1993 St. Paul, Minnesota

By Chris Kruehl

In the Twin Cities, marathon weekend means more than running. It means partaking in the Creamettes/Classico Spaghetti Dinner with 1,000 running compatriots to put the finishing touches on carbohydrate stores. It means shopping for bargain-priced running goods and learning more about the body at the HealthPartners Marketplace and HealthSpan Fitness Fair. It also means listening to experts discuss running and fitness-related topics at the Runner's World Symposia.

On Friday, as the marathoners descended upon St. Paul, the elite racers talked about their chances at the Elite Runners' Forum and Press Conference. Later at that evening's pasta feed, runners and their families and friends consumed 550 pounds of dry pasta and 125 gallons of sauce as they prepared for race day.

Saturday morning dawned bright, clear, and crisp for the TCM 5K Race/Walk and Kids' Half-Mile Fun Run. The 5K Race, which featured former Olympians Alberto Salazar and Billy Mills, had an uninvited participant—an unscheduled freight train that delayed the start.

The non-competitive children's race drew 636 participants, including the South Grove Elementary school of Inver Grove Heights, Minn., which received a $500 grant from HealthPartners to purchase gym equipment. The grant goes to South Grove Elementary for having the largest number of participants.

Saturday afternoon's Runner's World Symposia provided a variety of information, including a session on cross training and a question and answer session with elite runners Salazar, Ed Eyestone, and Jon Sinclair. Two other sessions included panel discussions of running from a woman's perspective and what it's like to be an elite master's runner.

The HealthPartners Marketplace and HealthSpan Fitness Fair, held Friday and Saturday, provided a venue for thousands of runners to shop for discounted shoes, clothing and accessories, as well as test their lungs, body fat, and flexibility.
